CASTLES, COAST AND COUNTRY

The Conwy Valley is flanked on the west by thick forests and to the east by the heather moors of Hiraethog. All in all, it’s an area of great variety, with the bustling mountain village of Betws-y-Coed at one end and the historic town of Conwy at the other.

It doesn’t get more epic than mighty Conwy Castle, a stunning World Heritage Site. Once you’ve conquered the castle, take a walk along Conwy’s ring of medieval walls and lose yourself in the town’s maze of narrow cobbled streets, sprinkled with historic houses.

Get to know North West Wales’ former rulers at Conwy’s informative Princes of Gwynedd exhibition, then seek out Dolwyddelan Castle, their atmospheric stronghold deep in the mountains.

Betws-y-Coed is the perfect base for climbers, cyclists and walkers seeking to test themselves against the rugged landscape of Snowdonia. For the more casual explorer there are gentle waymarked walking trails along riverbanks and through woodlands. You can take to the trees at Zip World Fforest, an aerial assault course of swings, nets and zip lines strung high in the canopy or catch a ride on the Fforest Coaster toboggan run.

CONWAY

Conwy is a true one-off. Well-preserved ancient walls, the most intact in Europe, enclose a town of narrow cobbled streets, nooks and crannies chock-full of historic buildings.

Conwy Castle, a World Heritage Site, was a key part of the ‘iron ring’ of fortresses built around Snowdonia in the 13th century by Edward I to contain the Welsh. The views from the battlements, with the mountains of Snowdonia one way, the Conwy Estuary the other, are stunning. And it’s from here that the entire town comes into perspective, ringed by a circuit of walls over three-quarters of a mile long and guarded by no less than 22 towers.

A Conwy ‘must-do’ is a walk along these walls, before venturing into the streets below to visit places like Aberconwy House (a rare 14th-century merchant’s dwelling), Plas Mawr (the UK’s best-preserved Elizabethan town house) and the dinky Smallest House. And complete your history lesson by calling into Conwy’s Tourist Information Centre to see the exhibition that tells the story of the Princes of Gwynedd.

Other attractions include the Royal Cambrian Academy of Art and Thomas Telford’s Suspension Bridge. Maritime Conwy lives on along the quay with its boat filled harbour and sightseeing cruises. And back in town there’s a unique mix of shops to delight and entice everything from award-winning butchers to trendy boutiques and galleries.
DEGANWY
Just across the Conwy Estuary at Deganwy you’ll find an array of boutiques, great places to eat out and a big sand and stone beach with knockout views over the mainland coast and Anglesey. Plus an exciting marina development with quay-side hotel, restaurant and spa.

PENMAENMAWR
This friendly seaside town has an array of interesting shops and a promenade complete with skating park, paddling pool and play area for children, so it’s perfect for families. And there’s a row of traditional beach huts, too. The sandy beach is great for walks, watersports and sailing. Follow the upland walk to discover several historic sites, including Y Meini Hirion (the Druids’ Circle) dating to the Bronze age.

LLANFAIRFECHAN
The pretty village of Llanfairfechan is a great place to start walking in the beautiful surrounding hills from where you can take in the breathtaking views of the Irish Sea, the Menai Strait and Anglesey. Hone your castle building skills on the beach. The big open stretch of sandy beach is perfect for a picnic, paddle or watersports. It’s also a great place to watch the birds over the nearby Traeth Lafan Nature Reserve.

THE CONWY VALLEY & SNOWDONIA
BETWS-Y-COED
It’s one of those places that never closes, even on a Sunday in deep and dark December. How could it? There’s too much demand.

This bustling mountain resort is the official ‘gateway village to Snowdonia’. As well as the huge choice of outdoor activities on its doorstep, Betws’s popularity can also be explained by its outstanding range of shops selling everything from quality crafts to walking boots. In a beautiful location amongst woods and riverbanks on the edge of the Gwydyr Forest Park, Betws has been a consistent Snowdonia favourite since Victorian times and the coming of the railway. Its many attractions include a railway museum, golf course, waymarked walks, Swallow Falls, high ropes adventure at Zip World Fforest and its latest addition the Fforest Coaster toboggan run. The town has an excellent Snowdonia National Park Information Centre with Princes of Gwynedd exhibition and a room that recreates the experience of standing on the summit of Snowdon.
ROWEN
Considered by many to be the most attractive village in the county, Rowen nestles at the foot of the Tal-y-Fan Mountain. Front gardens of quaint stone cottages burst with flowers in the spring and summer and there’s a lovely country pub, perfect for a pit-stop whilst exploring the network of trails and paths.

TREFRIW
Trefriw’s long-established woollen mill produces distinctive Welsh tapestries and tweeds. Llyn Crafnant, a fishing lake, and Llyn Geirionydd, popular for watersports, hide themselves away in the forested hills above. Explore the village’s idyllic surroundings by following some of the Trefriw Trails.

DOLWYDDELAN
Peaceful Dolwyddelan in the Lledr Valley is perfect for touring the surrounding countryside, walking, climbing, canoeing, mountain biking and angling. The village is renowned as the birthplace of Prince Llywelyn the Great. Dramatic Dolwyddelan Castle, built by Llywelyn between c.1210 and 1240, stands on its rocky ridge with awesome views over the Lledr Valley.

LIANRWST
Handsome ‘capital’ and historic market town for the Vale of Conwy. Gwydir Chapel in beautiful St Grwst’s Church is on the Princes of Gwynedd Trail. It contains the elaborately carved coffin of Welsh medieval leader Llywelyn the Great, who died at Aberconwy Abbey in 1240.

Nearby Gwydir Castle and Gwydir Uchaf Chapel reveal more of the area’s eventful past. Llanrwst is bordered by the popular Gwydyr Forest Park, a lovely area latticed with numerous trails for all abilities. These waymarked paths take in everything from hidden mountain lakes to industrial heritage, scenic viewpoints to local history and the legend of Dafydd ap Siencyn, the forest’s own ‘Robin Hood’.

PENMACHNO
Head to Penmachno in the Machno Valley to really get away from things. There are some lovely woodland walks, especially around the Conwy and Machno falls. Additional activities include horse riding and a mountain bike trail. Ty Mawr Wybrnant was the birthplace of Bishop William Morgan, who first translated the bible into Welsh. The house itself gives an intriguing glimpse of rural Welsh life during the 16th and 17th centuries and contains an original Morgan bible.

CAPEL CURIG
Located in the wild foothills of Moel Siabod, Y Glyderau and Y Carneddau, here, Snowdonia is literally on your doorstep. The Afon Llugwy flows through the village to the beautiful waterfall at Pont Cyfyng, and Plas y Brenin National Mountain Centre is close by, near the twin lakes Llynau Mymbyr.

HIRAETHOG
The main draw here is Mynydd Hiraethog itself. This sparsely populated upland expanse of heather moorland and forest, overseen by big skies, has a unique and haunting quality.

Cerrigydrudion is one of the main settlements. The village, on the A5 at the southern gateway to Hiraethog is home to one of the UK’s biggest and best karting circuits – GYG Karting. You’ll reach speeds of 60mph as you navigate the twists and turns of the track. Along with the nearby village of Llanfihangel Glyn Myfyr, Cerrigydrudion is also a good touring base for this largely undiscovered part of the world.

The same can be said for Penetrefoelas, also on the A5. Stagecoaches use to stop here on the main route into North Wales. Today’s travellers – especially chocoholics – stop off at the Riverside Chocolate House and Tearoom for delicious hand-made goodies.

Most travellers who venture into Hiraethog inevitably make for Llyn Brenig. The reservoir and its smaller neighbour Llyn Alwen are packed with leisure facilities for walking, cycling, mountain biking, fishing, sailing and birdwatching. There’s an excellent visitor centre at Llyn Brenig too, a good starting point for a deeper appreciation of Hiraethog’s rich heritage and history, which stretches back to prehistoric times.

MAKING HISTORY

Conwy town is a great place to start exploring the local history. The dramatic 13th century castle towers over one of the best examples of a medieval walled town in Europe. But Conwy’s mighty castle and town walls built by English King Edward I are just part of our story as you can discover on a visit to the Princes of Gwynedd exhibition at Conwy Tourist Information Centre.

Aberconwy House, dating back to the 14th century, is believed to be one of the oldest surviving town houses in Wales, and just a short walk away is Plas Mawr, the Elizabethan townhouse with its distinctive tower and unique interior plaster work. Gwydir Castle, set within fabulous gardens in the Conwy Valley, is one of Wales’ best examples of a Tudor courtyard house.
